

THE BRETONNIAN
COLLECTORS' GUIDE

WARHAMMER®

GAMES
WORKSHOP®

What is a Collectors' Guide?

The Bretonnian Collectors' Guide is the definitive tome for anyone interested in the Bretonnian miniatures range. It's ideal for anyone who collects Bretonnians, containing the full range of Bretonnian models and their component parts.

We've laid the range out following Warhammer Armies: Bretonnians. All the Hero choices are in one section, followed by Core, Special and Rare units. We hope this will make it easier for you to navigate through and find the models or components you are looking for.

The Bretonnian Collectors' Guide is far more than a simple catalogue. Also included within are a number of other features such as Bretonnian Dukedoms, some fantastic armies painted and collected by Games Workshop staff, conversions, Golden Demon winners and great dioramas.

So if you collect, paint or game with Bretonnians then this is the book for you.

Classic Range Models

When you reach the Components section, you will find that some of the models are labelled as Classic.

Classic Range

Classic Range models (like the Classic Bretonnian Hero on Pegasus pictured right) are no longer available in stores but are still ideal for use in your army.

Don't worry, all the Classic models will be clearly labelled inside.

Ordering any of these models is simple and convenient. All you have to do is select your models from this book then use any of the following ordering methods below.

How can I order these models?

Dukedoms of Bretonnia

Couronne

ouronne is traditionally the capital of Bretonnia, the place where the Bretonnian kings are crowned and where the greatest and most gallant knights gather to attend the King Tournaments, jousting, banquets, and hunts are held here every day.

The Marshal of Bretonnia is responsible for defending the marches of Couronne, which mark the frontier with Martenburg and the Empire. This disputed land is the scene of many battles with the Empire, the Marshal seizing every opportunity to push the frontier a little further east. Roland, the current Marshal of Bretonnia, leads his retinue of Knights and holds numerous castles, but the region is not yet large enough or stable enough to be made a Dukedom.

Artois

he Dukedom of Artois is situated in the depth of the famous Forest of Arden, a huge oak forest spreading over the hinterland of northern Bretonnia. It extends up the slopes of the Grey Mountains and for this reason is prone to Orc invasion.

Reynard the Hunter is known far and wide throughout Bretonnia for his passion of hunting; indeed he has become so expert with his great boar spear that he prefers to use this in battle rather than the traditional knightly lance. He rides with a hawk perched on his wrist and is always accompanied by his faithful wolfhounds Groffe and Griffé, whose savagery and loyalty is unmatched by any hunting hounds in Bretonnia. Reynard likes nothing better than to track down a warband of Orc raiders and set the dogs on them!

Mousillon

ousillon is situated in the marshy valley of the River Grismerie and originated as a trading port. The settlement rapidly grew into a big town, especially during the Dark Age of Bretonnia when refugees from Sectra's raids huddled within the walls. The descendants of the refugees were to remain as the city's poorest inhabitants. Mousillon has been plagued by the Red Pox. The last outbreak two centuries ago was so bad that the city was almost entirely depopulated. This happened shortly after the Affair of the False Grail, in which Maldred, Duke of Mousillon dishonoured himself by shutting himself up in the castle; he failed to escape from the plague and perished. The King has never appointed a new Duke. Now a mysterious black armoured Knight has risen and claimed the Dukedom for his own.

DUKEDOMS OF BRECONNIA

Quenelles

Quenelles is situated on the upper reaches of the River Brienne, almost on the edge of the Forest of Loren. This is truly a splendid town in which much of the old Elf stonework remains intact. The most famous Duke of Quenelles, was Tancred, victor of the battle of la Maisontaal, and the avowed enemy of the Lichemaster Kemmler. This fiend plagued the eastern frontier of Bretonnia, festering at his defeat by the Duke's army. Duke Tancred II has pledged to hunt down and slay the undead menace with the help of his ancestral potent relic, the famous Blade of Couronne, given by the King in person to help defeat the walking dead.

Bastonne

Bastonne is a vast domain in the heartland of Bretonnia. This Dukedom is perhaps the oldest in the realm and the Duke is traditionally one of the King's most important nobles. The castle of the Duke is located on a high craggy rock overlooking the forest of Châlons, and Bastonne's vast estates are almost entirely rural. One of the most famous heroes in Bretonnian history is Jasperre, the foremost slayer of dragons in the realm. It was he who slew the dragon Malgrimace and rescued Isabeau, the King's daughter, from the dragon's jaws. This was just one of the monsters slain by Jasperre in his never-ending quest for the grail. Jasperre rides a pegasus, which is a wise choice of mount for one who seeks to slay dragons and rescue damsels from high towers!

Lyonesse

Lyonesse is a fertile land in the far northwest of Bretonnia, and is the homeland of the famous Repanse, the heroine who rallied the battered armies of Bretonnia during the kingdom's darkest hour. This was when King Louis the Brave was slain in battle, fighting a vast horde of Chaos warriors invading Bretonnia from the Sea of Claws. Repanse was no more than seventeen years of age when a vision of the Lady of the Lake inspired her to break open the village grail chapel and, fastening a tapestry hung on the wall to a lance, she rode forth a warhorse found terrified nearby, to rally the scattered and disheartened Knights of Lyonesse. When the retreating Knights saw a mere damsel bravely setting off to battle they were shamed and felt honour bound to follow her to death or glory! Couronne was saved and the remnants of the enemy were pursued to the sea and justly put to death. Louis the Young bestowed upon Repanse not only all the honour of knighthood but also the Dukedom of Lyonesse.

SHOWCASE

THE ARMY OF THEODORIC D'AGUILE

By Richard Burdett Games Workshop Cheltenham

Richard: I have always liked the chivalrous background of Bretonnia, and the gallant feats of heroism the knights achieve. The release of the new Bretonnian models provided me with the perfect opportunity to rekindle my passion for the army.

The army was initially designed for a 1500pt tournament, but soon expanded beyond 2000pts for the larger tournaments. I believe that for an army to stand out in tournaments; it needs to have a bright colour scheme, with simple conversions throughout the army. I wanted my army to be different from all the other Bretonnian armies on the tournament scene, and decided to paint all the models using the NMM (non metallic metal) technique. This technique provides a highly polished steel effect, which I think suits the Bretonnian imagery. There are many conversions contained within the army, from simple head swaps to the paladin based on the Archaon model. My favourite unit has to be the Questing Knights, their faces contain lots of character which makes each knight unique.

I'm currently working on three more units of Pegasus Knights, a Paladin on a Pegasus and a third Damsel. These should ensure yet more victories for Bretonnia on the battlefield.

This converted Archaon model, makes a powerful and imposing looking Paladin for Richard's force.

Not only are the Bretonnian Questing Knights beautiful models, they are also deadly on the field.

This fantastic Hippogryph rider demonstrates Richards love for converting and adding character to his army.

In keeping with the armies uniform theme, Richard has painted his Damsels' clothing in a simple white.

SHOWCASE

THE ARMY OF DUC CÉLESIN

By Andy Jackson Hall Games Workshop Italy

Andy: I love Bretonnian's. The imagery of knights in shining armour, displaying heraldry which represents their heroic deeds really excites my passion as a hobbyist.

The idea of honourable warriors, travelling through out the old world in search of the sacred Grail, ignites my imagination and fires my lust for battle. In essence I adore the flavour of the Bretonnian army.

I wanted to ensure I collected all the variations of each type of knight and peasant. So I pawed my mail order catalogues for many a long hour ensuring I ordered at least one of each miniature and maximising the variation of poses with different combinations of parts. I wanted every model to be as individualistic as possible. Differing colour schemes and poses meant no two models were identical.

Where I had to have several models with the same pose (Men-at-arms), I ensured the colour scheme of leggings etc differed. Sadly I did not paint this army myself, I had it painted for me by a guy called Jim Bowen. Many thanks to Jim, I have enjoyed the scent of victory on numerous occasions, and had an extraordinary amount of fun playing with this mighty war host.

This brilliant looking Bretonnian hero Pegasus, was not included in the army picture below but a grand model like this is what attracts Andy to the Bretonnian Army.

This grand Bretonnian knight is a brilliant example of how you can make each knight striking and individual with well detailed heraldry.

Although not included in his main army, Andy's Green Knight looks fantastic. The awesome detail and grandness of the model works beautifully with his army.

The colour scheme on this Knight Errant is a perfect example of a simple and striking scheme, that stands out on the table.

SHOWCASE

THE ARMY OF MALLOBAUDE OF MOUSILLON

By Stephen Green Games Workshop UK Finance

Stephen: The colour and flare of the Bretonnians was the first thing that drew me to doing an army. Added to that was the awful state the peasantry live and fight in.

It is an army of extremes with unstoppable knights doing all the heroic deeds and the peasants having to do the trudging about trying to keep up and hold the flanks. Add to this the fact that the magic is solid and where shooting is concerned, a Bretonnian army can match even an Elf army.

Bretonnians let you paint colourful units of characterful models which give a great looking army at the end. What's more they are incredibly fun to play with...

The mangy peasants that make up my Trebuchet crew are responsible for lobbing rocks every turn and softening up my opponents for the charge. I put a lot of effort into making these characterful models look good.

Proudly displaying his heraldic green, Mallobaude leads my army to war at the head of my Questing Knights.

My Knights Errant have only been given basic heraldry, but will earn their designs when they reach Knighthood.

All my peasants are dressed in the colour of their lord. I have given the champion 2 swords to remind me he has 2 attacks.

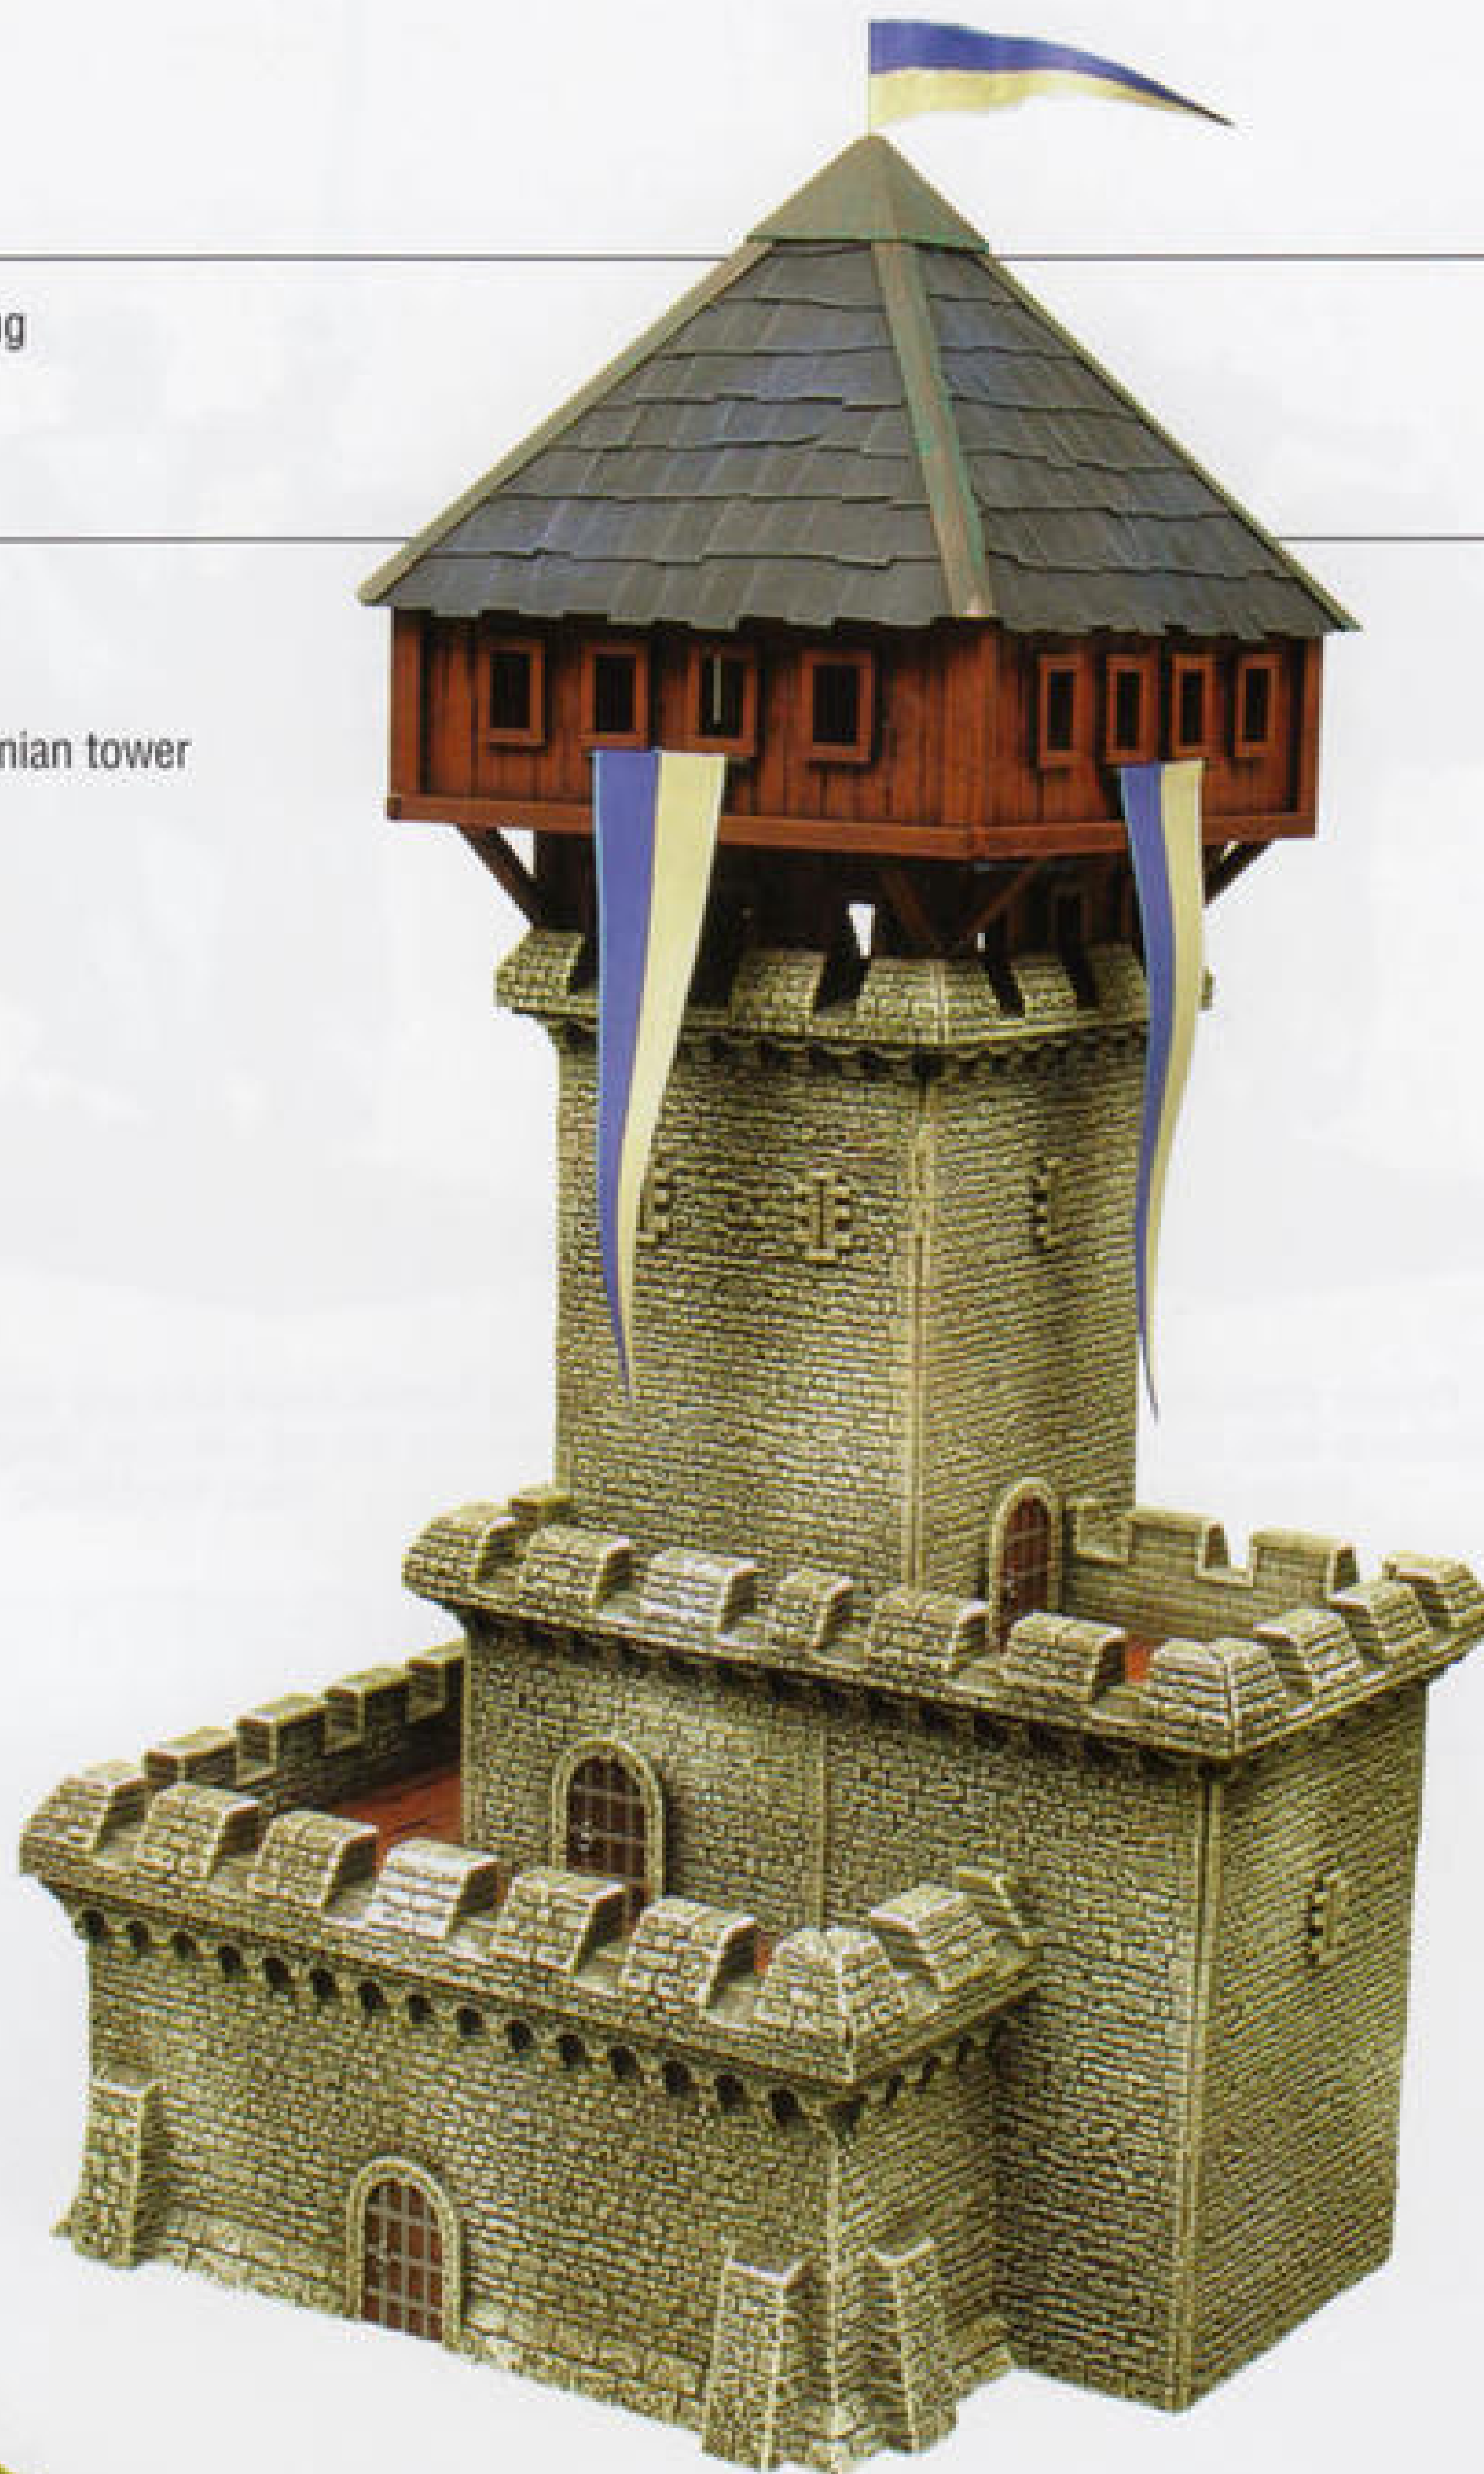

All the archers display shields with their lord's basic heraldry on it.

SCENERY

Often, one of the most enjoyable aspects of collecting an army is personalising it with scenery. Following are some great examples to hopefully inspire you to go on and make your own.

► Bretonnian tower

◄ Grail chapel

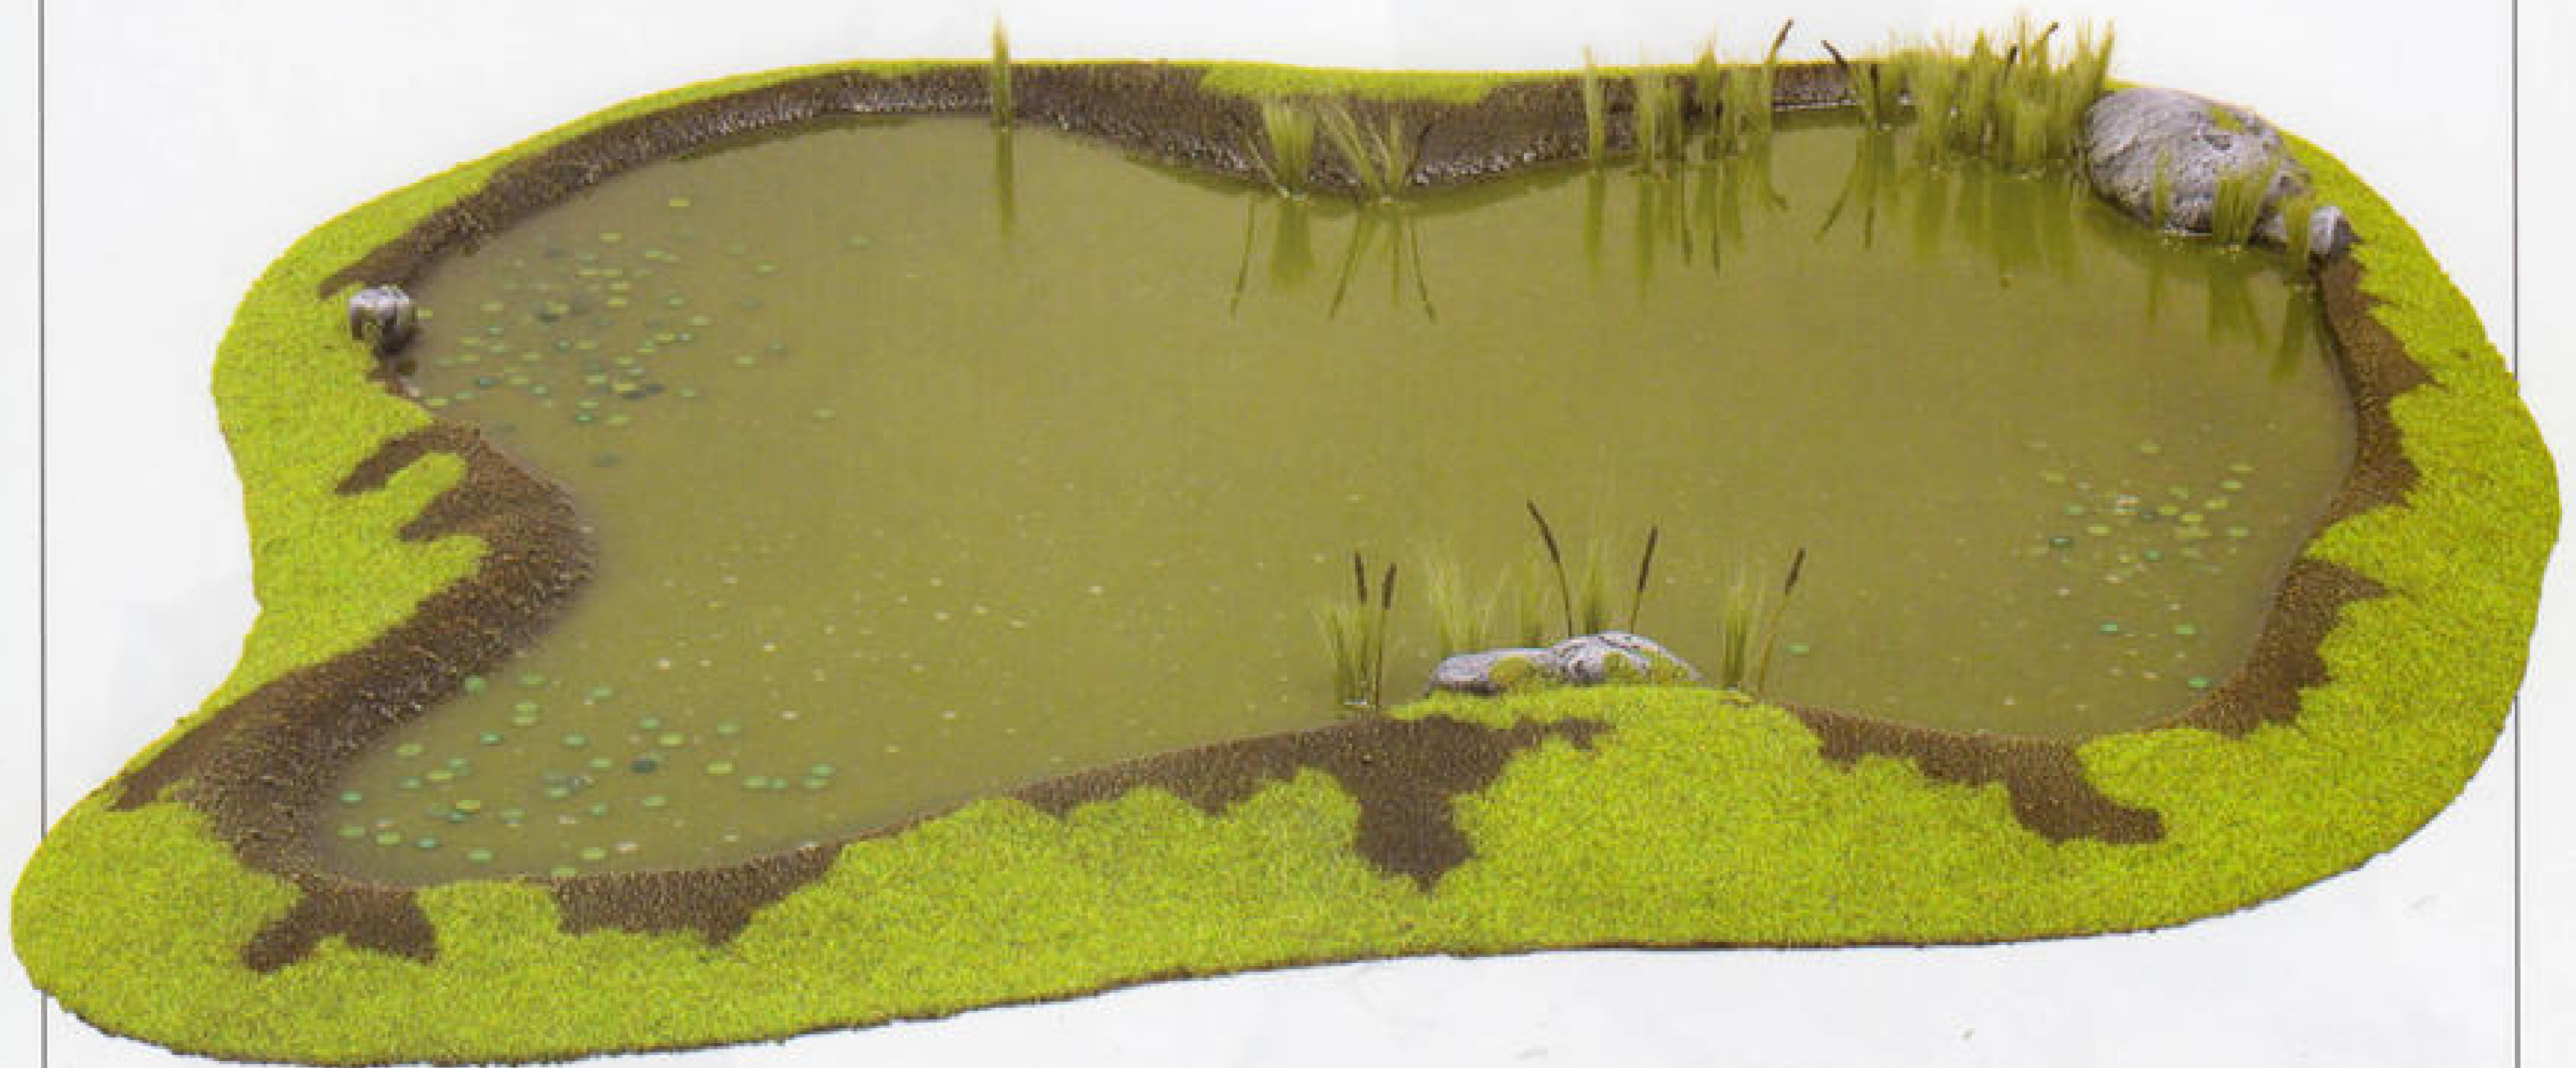

► Mounted character challenges could be decided using The Joust special rules from White Dwarf 300 on this jousting ground.

◀ Bretonnian hovel

▼ Throughout Bretonnia there are hundreds of ponds and lakes where, local legends have it, the Lady of the Lake has appeared to the faithful.

BLESSED BE THE LADY

The knights of Bretonnia are renowned throughout the Warhammer world for their skill at arms, their bravery and chivalry, and for their undying faith in their goddess, the Lady of the Lake. When it marches to war, the Bretonnian army is an impressive sight to behold, with the proud ranks of knights backed up with scores of low-born peasants.

The Bretonnian Collectors' Guide is the most comprehensive resource ever compiled for anyone who has an interest in Warhammer Bretonnian models. This full colour, 48-page book is packed full of:

- Complete components lists, including pictures, prices and codes.
- The Bretonnian Dukedoms, complete with a map pinpointing their location.
- Bretonnian themed Golden Demon winning entries.
- The best Bretonnian dioramas.
- Great Bretonnian conversions.
- Awesome Games Workshop staff Bretonnian armies.

So, whether you are a hardened Bretonnian veteran, or building your first Bretonnian army, this is one book you really can't do without!
